Corcoran Adds Exclusive Listings to REBNY's Residentialnyc.com

by Brooklyn Eagle

BROOKLYN — Giving Brooklyn and citywide home buyers and renters access to thousands more property listings, The Corcoran Group is adding its exclusive home listings to ResidentialNYC.com, the free public real estate listings web site of the Real Estate Board of New York (REBNY).

With the addition of Corcoran's listings, the number of listings available on the site will double, enabling the public to have access to nearly 10,000 property listings throughout the city.

Unlike other real estate sites, ResidentialNYC.com is the first comprehensive web site to give the public access to exclusive home listings that were previously available only to brokers, according to Steve Spinola, REBNY president.

Listings are updated every three hours to ensure accuracy and avoid the duplication that is often found on listings sites. ResidentialNYC.com does not require users to register in order to search.

“The timing was right for us. ResidentialNYC.com is a consumer-friendly site that offers easy search and requires no registration. We are pleased with how the site has developed and we are happy to partner with REBNY to provide consumers with an expanded listing source,” said Pamela Liebman, president and chief executive officer of The Corcoran Group.

“The Corcoran Group has long been at the forefront of REBNY's effort to encourage the sharing of listings and was one of the first firms to support the co-brokering of exclusive properties,” said Spinola. “We are thrilled with their decision to help REBNY bring transparency to the real estate transaction process.”
